DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Rev. Clarence Howard Barber died at his home on Main street Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He was more than a decade he was pastor of the Westfield Congregational church here and one of the best known clergymen of that denomination in Connecticut.

Since the spring of 1915, when he became ill with grip, Mr. Barber's health had been failing. During that year he continued his pastoral duties, however, and it was not until February of 1916 that he finally was obliged to go to Boston for hospital treatment, returning here in July of that year. He remained in the city until he was discharged in October, 1916, and accepted with regret by the congregation to which he had ministered with such marked devotion and success.

Rev. Mr. Barber's pastorate here began July 1, 1905, and the period covered by it will always stand out in the history of the Congregational church as marked by splendid progress, co-operation and harmony. Not only was the pastor beloved by his own church people, but as well by the community generally. Few clergymen who have served in Danielson's churches won the same degree of appreciation from the public at large as did Mr. Barber. There were many qualities in his personality that drew people to him, held them as his friends and made his advice and offers carry unusual weight.

In the public service that he rendered here he left the impress of his high standard of doing things, to the permanent benefit of the community.

Mr. Barber was born February 8, 1853, at Canton, this state, a son of Gaylord and Catharine Barber. At the time when Mr. Barber was three years of age his parents moved from Canton to Barkhamstead, where they remained until he was about 18, and then the family returned to Canton.

Mr. Barber was prominent at Amherst college, graduating with the class of 1877. As at Amherst, Mr. Barber was prominent at Amherst, taking special honors as a public speaker and debater. While he ranked as an honor student, he also found time to give to athletics and was one of the valued members of the track team.

Following his graduation at Amherst, Mr. Barber was in the Connecticut Theological seminary, graduating with the class of 1880. On June 14 of that year, at Torrington, this state, where he was ordained to the ministry. He remained at Torrington for seven years, leaving in 1887 to accept a call as pastor of the Congregational church at Manchester, this state, where he remained for eighteen and a half years, winning for himself and his work the admiration of his congregation. Mr. Barber left Manchester to become pastor of the Westfield Congregational church, in Danielson.

In September, 1880, Rev. Mr. Barber married, at Hartford, Miss Mary Johnson, of Meriden, Conn. They had three children: Edward J. Barber, Monclair, N. J.; Rev. Laurence L. Barber, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, Naushon, N. H.; and a daughter, Mrs. George B. Hawkes, an adopted daughter, Middletown, Conn. Rev. Harold H. Barber, who conducted a business college at Naushon, N. H., was also a son of Rev. Mr. Barber. Mr. Barber also leaves a brother, A. H. Barber, who conducts a business college at Naushon, N. H., and a sister, Mrs. Sherman E. Brown of Collinsville.

Through his prominent connection with a number of organizations whose endeavors cover the entire state, Mr. Barber became very well known throughout Connecticut. For a number of years he was president of the Connecticut Association of Ministers. He had been president of the state Christian Endeavor organization and was a director of the state Home Missionary society. He was a member of the Killingworth school committee for a number of years and had served here in other public capacities.

There were widespread expressions of regret when Mr. Barber's death was announced and a great many will attend the funeral, which is to be held in the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon.

Elis Lague, 68, died at his home on Monday night, Saturday afternoon at 1.30. Mr. Lague had been in poor health for some time, but his death came unexpectedly, though his condition was recognized as serious.

Mr. Lague was born at St. Sabin, P. Q., but he came to Danielson as a boy and for years was engaged here as a barber, associated with his brother, Louis, who was at Oakland beach. Later he went to Jewett City and for a long period of years conducted a barber shop in that place. Having disposed of his business some time ago, he returned to Danielson to make his home.

Miss Lague leaves his wife, who was Miss Rosanna Choquette, a son, Eli, who is engaged in business in Jewett City, and two daughters, Mrs. Stanislas Gingsas of Springfield and Mrs. Leodora Glade of Norwich, and a granddaughter, Miss Beatrice Gingsas.

The funeral of John Healey was held from his home in Hampton Saturday morning with services at St. James' church, where Rev. M. J. Ginet, M. S. was celebrated a high mass of requiem. Burial was in St. James' cemetery. The bearers were John Fitzgerald, James Fitzgerald, John W. Varty, Thomas Brannan, Michael Brannan, and G. E. Simpson. Louis E. Kennedy was the funeral director.

The body of John Gilchrist, who died suddenly at the boarding house at Ballouville two weeks ago, was buried in the town cemetery, near Dayville, Undertaker Louis E. Kennedy succeeded in locating a sister of Mr. Gilchrist in New Bedford, but she was unable to attend for his funeral, so the arrangements were made by officials here.

Electric meters will drive the machinery to be installed in the mill recently purchased at East Killingly by a new textile concern that is to locate here. Each loom will be fitted with an individual motor, so will other machines that the company is going to put in.

Mrs. George Stone, Academy street, was reported Sunday to be resting.

PUTNAM

A special meeting of Anselm May's post of the Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Friday evening. A representative of the Connecticut department of the legion delivered an address. The executive board met at 7.45.

The conditions surrounding the weavers' strike at the Manhusset company plant have not improved. The strikers and Superintendent Lown held a conference at the new mill Friday, when the strikers presented their demands. Nothing tending to clear up the situation resulted.

The funeral of Henry T. Bugbee, who died at the Day Kimball hospital Thursday, was held at the home of E. B. Kent, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. G. S. Mackay of the Baptist church officiated. Burial was in Woodstock.

Basketball practice began at Putnam High Friday afternoon with the largest number of candidates. In recent years turning out. Because of the number, Coach Ellis intends to cut the squad early this week. Stiff practice was held.

Saturday was Tag day for the Near East relief. A large number of workers turned out and the campaign promised a substantial return.

Spelling contests will start soon at the high school for the purpose of choosing a team to meet the Killingly High spelling team for the cup. Last year the Danielson team bore off the trophy by a narrow margin, so a victory for the Putnam team is the determination of all contestants.

A tennis schedule between Putnam and Torrington, Webster, Killingly and Willimantic is being sought by the local school. This is the first season that an organized tennis team has been established on a scheduled basis. The girls' club has changed the date of the monthly meetings from the first Wednesday to the first Monday of each month. A whist will be held in the club room during April for girls only, as visitors from other clubs are expected. Miss Aline LeClair, president of the club, has been elected delegate to the New York college convention at Philadelphia in June. Miss Bessie O'Brien is alternate. The campaign for new members, recently started, is progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tatem, Jr., went to Hartford Thursday and returned Friday in their car.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Smith will leave today for a short stay in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Joseph Outler and sister, Miss Hazel Johnson, spent Friday in Worcester.

Mrs. Hyde Smith has been visiting Springfield relatives.

The long expected bout between Danny Doyle and Kid McKenna was again postponed as a result of an injury McKenna received while training. With looking with his sparring partner, McKenna's eye was badly cut, requiring three stitches. This unfortunate circumstance seems to bear out the rumor surrounding the bout, since various conditions have caused repeated postponements.

The meeting of Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., is to be held today (Monday) in the chapter rooms at 3 o'clock. The board of management will meet earlier.

The degree team of Charagogoogoo, a group of Red Men, Webster, visited Wapagagagoo, a group of Red Men, Thursday evening and conferred the chief's degree on a class. Following a business session, an oyster supper was served.

Al Lundstrom of North Grosvenordale, the wrestler, has returned from a tour of Vermont, where he won all except one bout. This occurred in a questionable bout, where Lundstrom, comfortably and showing improvement in condition, Mrs. Stone underwent a surgical operation last week.

The officials have been in Cavertbury investigating a case of cattle owned in that town. No statement as to what the investigation developed was issued.

Four Minute speaker at the service at the Baptist church here Sunday morning.

Rev. E. P. Ayer was the speaker at the service at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Members of the Pentecostal church will hold a cottage prayer meeting at the home of Mrs. Alsidie Dikeman on Tuesday evening.

Henry McDermott of Woonsocket spent Sunday at his home in Danielson.

Brooklyn the committee in charge in making ready to erect the memorial to the men from that town who served in the world war.

Miss Ella Sidley is taking charge of the fabric shop, succeeding Mrs. Purvis Barnett, who has gone to Putnam to be at the Bugbee and Wulf store.

Miss Marion Rose returned to Boston Sunday after visiting her aunt, W. W. Woodward, of Broad street.

It was stated Saturday that the man who left nearly a full pint of de-natured alcohol in a bus running by a Western firm on the strength of Henry B. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Assistant Superintendent Fred Buckley will be in charge of manufacturing operations at the Goodyear mills during the absence of Supt. E. W. Boys, who will sail from New York on Tuesday for England.

The temperature dropped to 18 degrees in Danielson Saturday morning.
